MCE / BUSINESS BREAKFAST

Project Management in a VUCA World

Manage your projects through times of disruption and change successfully.

Project Management is a core competence that every leader and manager should have to execute a strategy. The project management landscape has dramatically changed during the last 10 years. The know-how required to design and execute a portfolio of projects today requires new skills, competencies and methods. There is no single solution that you can utilize to design your portfolio or manage your projects.

We live in a dynamic business world led by Volatility, Uncertainty, Complexity, Ambiguity (VUCA), disruption and fierce competition. That means, project management has evolved to become more complex with higher expectations from stakeholders and primacy on agility.

During the business breakfast you will learn how to manage projects in a VUCA world. You will learn how to navigate through different choices that meets your needs and those of your teams.

The MCE Business Breakfast session will cover :

➔ What's a VUCA world and what does it mean for Executives & Project Management Leaders?

➔ Current trends in project management

➔ How to focus on your needs and those of your teams?

➔ Open forum, including exchange of your own experiences

MCE's Portfolio and Projects Expert at the event is Mr. George Merguerian
